Parents & Teens

Join our panel for a discussion about legal issues you and your teen need to be aware of including substance use and abuse, MIPs, hosting parties at your home, sexting and more.

Our experts will discuss the issues as well as the costs (mental, emotional, social and financial) associated with them and offer suggestions to keep your kids out of trouble as well as answer questions you have concerning your kids and the law.

This program is free and open to the public. There is no need to pre-register. For more information on this or other BBFA programs visit us online at www.bbfaprevention.org

BBFA is a nonprofit organization that promotes healthy families by actively educating, informing and providing tools to parents and the community about healthy parenting as well as the prevention of substance abuse and other destructive behaviors.
